MEMO

RE: JULIUS ROSENBERG
TSP-R

Following the conference between representatives of the Atomic Energy Commission and the U.S. Attorney, Southern District of New York, on 3/1/51, SAs William F. Norton and John A. Harrington spoke with Mr. William Denton, counsel for the AEC, Washington, D.C.

At this time Mr. Denton confidentially advised the above mentioned agents that he was visibly concerned with the lack of qualifications of the U.S. Attorney's Office to properly present the evidence in connection with this case. He said that following the conference yesterday, which concerned itself with reviewing the testimony of various AEC representatives and the material which was to be submitted in evidence in this case pertaining to the atomic bomb, he was impressed with the lack of maturity of Roy Cohn and James Kilsholmer and the lack of preparation in the over-all case by Irving Saypol. He said that when he returns to Washington today, he intends to take this matter up with the AEC, who in turn might refer it to the Attorney General, or they might go so far as to take this entire matter up with the President in an effort to force the Department to send a Special Adviser from the Department of Justice to participate in this trial and see that the interests of the AEC are adequately and completely protected.

Mr. Denton stated he was going to base his recommendations solely on his observations with what transpired at the conference yesterday.

It is to be noted that Agents Harrington and Norton did not make any comment to Mr. Denton or any other representatives of the AEC or anyone else at that time with respect to the ability or lack of ability of the U.S. Attorney's Office to properly handle this matter and it is to be further observed that Mr. Denton specifically remarked that he had received no information from the agents or Lyles Lane and his decision was based on his own observations at yesterday's conference.

A further observation is made in connection with these comments. Mr. Denton stated that when Lyles Lane came to Washington and appeared before the AEC and representatives of Congress concerning the declassi-fication of this material, it was their feeling that he would have a strong control over the presentation of the evidence in connection with this case and he had engendered a great deal of confidence in the Commission in his ability to properly handle this matter.

Mr. Denton stated that if Mr. Saypol had appeared before the Commission it is his feeling he would have handled the matter in such a manner they would not have declassified any of this material. He likewise stated Mr. Saypol had specifically told him that he was not going to be bound by any commitments the Department had made with respect to this matter and this is of further concern to the AEC because their decision to declassify this material was based on assurances given to them both by Lane and the Department in Washington that the death penalty would be requested at the completion of the trial.

On 3-3-51 Pauline Rosenberg was interviewed by S.A. Rex S. Schroeder and the writer.

She advised that she could not recall exactly what day of the week it was that she and David Rosenberg returned to N.Y.C. from Albuquerque N.M., in Sept 1945.

She also advised that on the day that she & David went to the Rosenberg apartment in Sept 1945 to turn over information, she did not see the maid Tebe Michael Rosenberg at out of the apartment.

She explained that she had no recollection of such an event. She knew that she had seen the colored maid on one occasion or possibly on two occasions at the Roseberg apartment but she was unable to recall whether she saw the maid on the aforementioned occasion in Sept 1945 when David turned over information. She did recall that on one occasion the maid prepared the dinner which she & the others (David & the Raesbergs) ate. She stated that she & David did not take dinner at the Rosebergs in Sept 1945 on the day ^{the} information was turned over.

She explained that she never saw the nursery attendant of Knickerbocker Village.

Both Kreeglers toured the lower east side and pointed out a ~~stationary~~ candy store at 201 Madison St., corner of Rutgers St., where Ethel Rosenberg had said she purchased the Daily Worker.

Ruth recalled that, while David was in the service, possibly in 1943, Ethel told her that she patronized their newspaper stand (at the candy store) and one other stand because she did not wish to bring home the Daily Worker too close to her residence. Although Ethel had pointed out these 2 stands to Ruth, Ruth was able to locate only the one at 201 Madison St. A tour of the neighborhood to locate the second newsstand was made with negative results.

A sign on the ~~newsstand~~ candy store at 201 Madison St. disclosed that it would reopen on 2-5-51.

RE: JULIUS ROSENBERG
ESPIONAGE - R

JEROME EUGENE TARTAKOW has advised that ROSENBERG stated that LENNY TINKLE, a school teacher residing in Knickerbocker Village, was a good and reliable man.

LEONARD TINKLE, 16 Monroe Street, Apartment JI-6, was interviewed on February 17, 1951 by SA REX I. SHRODER, LEO J. FRUTKIN and JAMES P. LEE.

TINKLE advised that he knew ROSENBERG as a neighbor in Knickerbocker Village. TINKLE stated he was not positive whether he had met ROSENBERG while residing in Knickerbocker Village, or whether he had met him in the Federation of Architects, Engineers, Chemists and Technicians, of which both TINKLE and ROSENBERG were members. TINKLE advised he joined the FAECT in 1934 or 1935, and that he possibly had met ROSENBERG at one of the meetings.

TINKLE advised that he was a graduate of Cooper Union, with an electrical engineering degree. He advised he graduated in 1934 and had performed graduate work at New York University in 1936. He stated that he is presently employed as a teacher at the George Westinghouse Technical High School in Brooklyn, New York, and has been so employed for the past ten years. It is noted that this school is part of the New York City school system.

He stated that his friendship with the ROSENBERGS was of a casual nature and that JULIUS ROSENBERG was in his apartment two or three times, and that he never was in the ROSENBERG apartment. He stated that he had met ETHEL ROSENBERG, but this meeting was very casual.

TINKLE stated that he had been employed in the United States Navy Yard as a teacher of mechanics from 1941 to 1943.

TINKLE stated that he never visited ROSENBERG'S shop, although ROSENBERG had invited him to do so on several occasions. He stated that most of his conversations with ROSENBERG took place on the street in Knickerbocker Village. He advised that he knew ROSENBERG had been fired from Government employment as a suspected member of the Communist Party. He advised that he did not know how he knew this. He advised he did not know if ETHEL ROSENBERG was a member of the Communist Party or not.

TINKLE stated that he is not presently a member of the FAECT and he cannot recall when he resigned. He stated that he did not think he was a member while employed at the United States Navy Yard, as he did not belong to the unit at the Navy Yard. TINKLE stated that he is a member of the Teachers Union. He also stated that he is not now and never has been a member of the Communist Party.

TINKLE also stated that he had never been requested by JULIUS ROSENBERG or anyone else to do anything in the line of espionage. He stated that ROSENBERG had never questioned him concerning his work at the Navy Yard, or asked any questions which would indicate he was attempting to obtain information.

The following pictures were displayed to TINKLE with negative results: ALFRED SARANT, WILLIAM DANZIGER, JOEL BARR, WILLIAM PERL, MARK PAGE and MAX ELITCHER. The photograph of RUSSELL McNUTT was also displayed to TINKLE, and he advised that the name and face seem familiar, but that he had no recollection as to how, when or where he had ever met him.

TINKLE stated that he owns a Voigtlander Camera and that he did some developing years ago, but that in recent years he has not done any developing. He advised that Knickerbocker Village has a camera club. However, he is not a member. He did not know whether JULIUS ROSENBERG possessed a camera, nor whether he was a member of the Knickerbocker Camera Club.

TINKLE also advised he never belonged to the Young Communist League or the American Youth for Democracy.

TINKLE was born January 6, 1912 in New York City. He is married and has one son ten years of age.
